DEATH OF DR. S. W. BUDD.

Prominent Virginia Physician Who Once Practiced Here.

Dr. Samuel W. Budd, formerly of Washington, died Saturday at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where he had gone for treatment. He was one of the most prominent physicians and surgeons in Southern Virginia. He was born in Dinwiddie county, Virginia, on August 30, 1852. He studied medicine at the University of Virginia and Bellevue Medical College, New York, and received a diploma from the latter institution in 1875. He practiced in Washington for a brief period and then removed to Petersburg, where he built up a very large practice.

He had been a member of the Petersburg Medical Faculty since 1877, and was elected president of the faculty on November 16, 1881, and at the time of his death was one of its vice presidents. He was elected fellow of the State Medical Society in 1889 and had also been a member of the State medical examining board since 1890. Dr. Budd was one of the most prominent Masons in the State. He was a Scottish Rite Mason, prelate of Appomattox Commandery, Knights Templar, past high priest of Petersburg Royal Arch Chapter, and past master of Powhatan Lodge of Masons.

It's a Blessing That the United States is a land where free speech is a reality and not a fiction. It gives everyone the right to express his sentiments freely. All authorities agree, and the Washington public has found out the opinion, that is, that there are no better beers brewed than the National Capital Brewing Co.'s "Diamond" and "Morse" brands. Case of 24 bottles, $1.25; phone 222.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

If every manager were as generous with his benefits as is John Gieves, and if every benefit turned out as well as did that provided last night for the stock company at Bijou, the ranks of the profession would soon be overcrowded. The cozy little house was more than filled, and applause was bestowed, if not upon the just and the unjust alike, equally upon the good and the bad. The bill, which was a long one, was furnished by Sol Goldsmith, Charles De Forest, Jack Flood, Flora Parker, Dot Davenport, George Diamond, Nina Collins, Sam Adams, Hugh Saxon, Hepner, Sam Drane, Thompson and Carter, and George W. Graham. While the arrangement of the programme made it rather monotonous, the entertainment was fair and those present seemed to enjoy it greatly.

Watch for a town. Congress Heights, D. C.

Pleasure and a Duty.

I consider it not only a pleasure, but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with this and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease.—J. W. Lynch, Dorr, Va. This remedy is sold by Henry Evans, wholesale and retail, 108 F Street northwest, and all druggists.
